Fundraiser for Fairfax Girl, Age 8

BY BONNIE HOBBS
THE CONNECTION

Tara Sankner, an 8-year-old Fairfax resident, was recently diagnosed with brain cancer, and the local community is rallying 'round to show its support.

She and a fundraising and support team called "Pray for Tara" wore special, pink T-shirts and participated in last Saturday's, March 23, Rev3 Run Rogue 5K and 1K at the Fairfax Corner Shopping Center. Tara ran and walked in both events and also had a donation table there.

And on Monday, April 8, from 6-8 p.m., area residents can enjoy sweet treats while helping raise money to help with Tara's medical bills. During those hours, Rita's Italian Ice, at 10726 Fairfax Blvd., in Fairfax, will donate 20 percent off all sales to support Tara and her family.

Tara is being treated at the Children's National Medical Center in Washington, D.C., for an astrocytoma. She had her first chemotherapy treatment on March 13 and her second, March 20.

"Day one of chemo is good, but day two is always bad," said her mother, Tammy Sankner. "And Tara's tired and sick, two days after treatment."

So Sankner was both pleased and surprised that her daughter was able to complete the 5K event Saturday morning. "Yesterday [Friday], she was so worn out from the chemo, she could hardly walk," said Sankner.

When she's feeling good, Tara enjoys doing arts and crafts and reading. Her mother says Tara's normally a bubbly person who loves helping people do anything they need.

As for the upcoming event at Rita's, Sankner said, "I think it's great. I'm just beyond words about all the people who are helping us out. And I'm just so thrilled that Rita's has given us the opportunity to do a fundraiser there."

Those unable to attend the April 8 event may also contribute to Tara online. Go to www.airbanking.com/tools/; where it says to pick a charity, click and scroll down to Pray for Tara.

In conjunction with the State Board of Elections, the county ran a voter preparedness campaign—"Are You Election Ready?"—to inform and educate voters about the election 2012.

Better Training, More Technology

The bipartisan commission released findings, recommendations regarding long lines on Election Day.

BY VICTORIA ROSS
THE CONNECTION

After learning that dozens of frustrated voters waited for hours in long lines to cast their ballots on Election Day, Board of Supervisors Chairman Sharon Bulova (D-at-large) called for the creation of a bipartisan commission to figure out why and make sure it doesn't happen again.

At the March 19 Board of Supervisor's meeting, the commission—jointly chaired by former Board of Supervisors Chairman Kate Hanley and Stuart Mendelsohn, former Dranesville supervisor—released its final report. They recommended additional poll workers, more training and better technology to keep lines moving.

Recommendations encompassed a variety of training, technology, and process improvements, ranging from using more Electronic Poll Books (EPBs) to providing additional parking spaces at polling places.

"I am pleased that the Election Commission has completed its work," Bulova said. "It is important that the county implement measures to reduce long lines, decrease wait times and streamline the election process in Fairfax County. The commission has identified a variety of improvements and efficiencies to ensure access and convenience for voters in future elections."

Additional recommendations included using electronic poll books at every precinct, and asked the county to create a fund that would pay for upgrading voting equipment. The report also suggested that county officials find larger polling places where voters can form lines inside precincts rather than outside during bad weather.

Voter turnout in Fairfax County on Election Day was at an all-time high in November's presidential election, with 81 percent of registered voters casting their ballots in 2012 compared to 78.7 percent in 2008. In the 2011 state and local elections, just 32 percent of registered voters cast their ballots, while 49 percent turned out for the 2010 congressional contests.

Lines and wait times varied throughout the county's 237 precincts last November. Voters at Vienna's Flint Hill Elementary School reported ample parking and virtually no lines. At other locations, however, lines snaked around elementary school parking lots and through buildings, and it was not unusual for voters to have to wait over an hour.

Election officials said a shortage of poll volunteers coupled with complicated ballot questions and bond issues meant some voters took much longer to finish their ballots.

While the long lines created headaches for many Fairfax County voters, some voters in Prince William County faced five-hour waits before casting their ballots.

A copy of the report can be found at <http://www.fairfaxcounty.gov/electioncommission/election-commission-report.htm>.

SPRING FUN

Riverbend Opera to Open New Season

BY DAVID SIEGEL

“The music of opera takes me to beautiful places in my imagination, with swirling passions and languid times of reflection,” said John Turner (McLean) in describing his love for the art form. He is one of the artistic forces behind Fairfax County’s own Riverbend Opera Company.

With its 2013 season, Riverbend will have a double-bill of one-act works by Giacomo Puccini. Puccini’s operas are some of the most performed such as “La Bohème,” “Madame Butterfly” and “Tosca.”

Each of the one-acts, “Il tabarro” and “Suor Angelica” has “almost achingly beautiful music” said Turner.

“Suor Angelica” is set in a convent centuries ago. One of the nuns has a complicated life, “faces a horrible moral and mortal dilemma. Puccini’s musical treatment of the principal characters takes the audience on a vivid journey from the depths of depression to the angelic choirs of heaven,” Turner observed.

Il tabarro is set on a barge on the Seine in Paris. A husband notices that his wife is not as fervent as she once was. The wife is torn between her husband Luigi and a new man in her life, as well as experiencing sadness from the loss of her son. In the climactic scene, the husband’s quick-temper, his tabarro (cloak) and the music all have critical roles.

The “Suor Angelica” principals include soprano Linda Kiemel, who performs regularly as an oratorio soloist and is a member of the Washington National Opera chorus. Mezzo Viktoriya Bright is currently appearing as soloist with the Cathedral Choral Society at the National Cathedral.

In “Il tabarro” there are two tenors alternating in the lead role.

Kevin Courtemanche is a member of the chorus of the New York Metropolitan Opera, currently appearing in the production of “Parsifal.” Paul McIlvaine has extensive experience as a leading opera tenor.

Soprano leads are Melissa Jean Chávez and Molly Pinson Simoneau. Chávez will be performing with the prestigious Castleton Festival. Simoneau is making her debut in a leading role with this production having performed in opera productions for several years.

With semi-staging the “audience is close to the singers. There is no pit, no stage, no microphones. It makes opera so accessible,” said Riverbend Music Director Molly A. Khatcheressian, who is the choral director at Thomas Jefferson High School.

These Puccini one-acts are “a compact performing art form like a compelling short story with music that is thrilling,” added Khatcheressian.

Crime Victims 5K Walk

The first-ever 5K walk dedicated to crime victims in Fairfax County will be held in honor of the 2013 National Crime Victims' Rights Week. This free event is slated for Sunday, April 21, at 4:30 p.m., at Fairfax Corner. It's hosted by the Victims Services Section of the county Police Department and the Fairfax County Law Enforcement Foundation.

Area residents may join the professionals who support local victims of homicide, trauma, sexual and domestic violence, child physical and sexual abuse, stalking human trafficking and suicide as they walk together.

The event will feature a resource fair, plus live jazz, rhythm and blues by the E & ME Band. Also planned are opening remarks by Commonwealth Attorney Ray Morrogh, a candlelight vigil in honor of victims after the walk, and remarks from Lorraine Reed Whoberry, a homicide survivor and founder of the S.T.A.C.I.E. Foundation.

Helping Keep Children Safe

City of Fairfax police, in conjunction with the Optimist Club of Fairfax, will be offering Safe Assured identification kits for children on Saturday, April 6, from 10 a.m.-4 p.m., at the City of Fairfax Police Department, 3730 Old Lee Highway.

Parents will receive a full-color photo ID and a mini-CD containing digital fingerprints, a digital photo, video showing movement and mannerisms, a general physical description, vital personal information and a family code word. Private information is encrypted and accessible only by law enforcement.

Missing-persons posters can be created and printed directly from the mini-CD in English, Spanish and French. The Safe Assured ID kits can also be used as a valuable aid for adults with special needs. The kits are free and an appointment is necessary. Call Sgt. Kyle Penman at 703-385-7923.

More Obstacles to Transparency

General Assembly puts more information out of public reach, but other factors also limit access.

The first paragraph of the Virginia Freedom of Information Act, passed by the General Assembly in 1968, states that all public records “shall be presumed open.”

It doesn’t add, “except when we don’t want to,” although that provision does seem to be available in many cases. Individual government entities have a variety of ways of making it hard for the public to access public information.

One such way is simply to require that the information seeker file a “FOIA request,” a written request for information under the Freedom of Information Act. Most public information should be readily available, handed over on request. The written query allows the entity, a school system for example, to parse the request to provide as little information as possible. It is a method of foot-dragging, of just hoping that the requestor will give up.

A growing obstacle involves fees. Many government agencies respond to any request for public information with a bill, sometimes for thousands of dollars. The bills can cover staff time to calculate the answers, to locate the data. The staff time involved is already on the public payroll, and charging fees to provide public information to the public when the public is already paying for the existence of the information is double dipping. Again, it’s a method designed to discourage access. And it is often effective. And while many citizen groups in our area can cough up $3,000 or $6,000 or more for access to the email correspondence of public officials on a decision that affects the public, for example, many cannot. It is inequitable to charge this sort of fee.

The existence of email correspondence between public officials is another concern, allowing for discussion that, while usually FOIA-able, takes place outside the public eye. Local governments could develop a public archive for email correspondence that would do much to enhance transparency and sunshine in the commonwealth, and reduce embarrassment on the part of emailing officials because they would recognize in advance that their email is public.

The Virginia Freedom of Information Act includes an exception that allows police to withhold, without justification, “complaints, memoranda, correspondence, case files or reports, witness statements and evidence.” Police officials in Fairfax, Arlington and Alexandria have adopted what they call a “blanket” approach to using their exemption. That means they have decided to withhold any document they can without any analysis of whether they should. But no public entity should be allowed blanket exemptions. Withholding public information, if it is allowed, should be on a case-by-case basis. Police departments all over the country routinely allow access to police reports, incident reports and many other source documents without harm, documents that police here refuse to allow the public to see.

So with many systemic roadblocks to public access to public information, it is discouraging to say the least to see the General Assembly add significant new obstacles.

The Virginia Coalitions for Open Government reports that the General Assembly passed exemptions that “will limit access to some correspondence of legislative aides, to evacuation plans for hospitals operating under certificates of public need, to certain flight plans filed at regional government airports, to records and meetings of the Jamestown-Yorktown Foundation and to bank self-assessments. All concealed handgun permit applications will now be off-limits, too, thanks to a bill that was radically amended from its original purpose and reported from committee to House floor in less than 24 hours,” limiting public comment.

Protecting Both Gun Rights and Public Safety

BY DAVE MARSDEN
STATE SENATOR (D-37)

It was an historic year in the Virginia General Assembly. We passed a once-in-a-generation transportation funding bill and laid the foundation for 400,000 thousand Virginians to gain health insurance through an expansion of Medicaid that will create nearly 30,000 new health care jobs.

But which issue do you think generated the most e-mails and phone calls to my legislative office? The Second Amendment. A few constituents called for an all-out ban on certain high capacity magazines and assault weapons, and a few others expressed a desire to close the “gun show loop hole” to stop the private sale of weapons at commercial gun shows without background checks. But the majority of the communications defended the Second Amendment and asked me not to support any changes, at all, to our gun laws. A large number of these folks passed on form-messages written by gun advocacy groups. A much smaller number of email writers provided thoughtful ideas and suggestions of their own. In responding to these messages by e-mail, or by phone calls and in-person meetings, it is my experience that the Second Amendment proponents who contacted me fell into three broad categories:

1. Thoughtful people with genuine concerns about the constitutional ramifications of the Second Amendment and our nation’s problem with violence. These individuals tended to be willing and able to hold an open dialogue about the problems our communities face with gun violence.

2. People who passed on pre-written messages that said that they are responsible gun owners, who are sorry about what happened in Sandy Hook, Conn., but who do not want the guns or ammunition they may purchase, or the method by which they might procure them, to be changed in any way. These individuals tended to explain gun violence as stemming from mental health problems, criminal activity, video games and violent themes in movies, television and music. When pressed for more dialogue, they tended to have little more to add other than a suspicion that the government wants to take their guns away and that the Second Amendment is absolute.

3. The last and fortunately smallest group were those who tended to tell me who they might need to shoot and under what circumstances. They imagined situations where they have to take down a shooter in a mall, defend their home from a street gang, or defend themselves from the tyranny of the government. These individuals generally believed that the only answer to gun violence is more guns.

I support the Second Amendment, quite simply, because it is the constitutional law of the land and I took an oath to defend the constitution. That is an oath I take very seriously. However, we now lose more people every year to firearm deaths than we do to traffic accidents. That is a situation that alarms me greatly.

When people purchase a gun, it is usually for a good reason. They purchase a gun to protect themselves or to participate in shooting sports. Yet, while that gun never changes its nature, the life situations and circumstances of the gun owner often change dramatically. No one ever foresees that their adorable toddler may grow up to be an angry and disturbed adolescent, or that their occasional drinking in young adulthood will turn into raging alcoholism, or that a sane and well-adjusted family member will deteriorate over the years into mental illness and despair. In these cases, that same responsible gun owner’s gun may be used in ways the owner never could have imagined. Working as I did for many years in the juvenile court and running our juvenile detention center in Fairfax for 17 years, I have seen the look on too many peoples’ faces who never imagined that the device they bought for self-defense or sport would be used in a tragic shooting or a criminal act.

I do not have the answer as to how we protect Second Amendment rights while still addressing public safety needs. I don’t believe that there is any one answer. What does strike me, however, is that some elements of the gun owning community (the ones that tend to be the loudest) exhibit very little willingness to compromise. That is a problem for all of us. Over 70 members of the Virginia Citizen’s Defense League visited me in Richmond this year, mostly carrying weapons. These constituents were adamant and sincere in their beliefs that restricting gun ownership, regulating sales, or adding any ad-

GEORGE MASON UNIVERSITY PRESENTS

THE VISION SERIES

Examining the Important Issues of Our Day

Transformational Leadership

JORGE HADDOCK
Dean, School of Management

Monday, April 1 at 7 p.m.

Change focuses on behavior, whereas transformation focuses on "beingness" or culture. Transformational leadership is about shifting the organizational conversations or interpretations to create different results or outcomes and creates conversations that generate a culture of relationships, moods, and actions consistent with the desired outcomes. Using this type of language, transformational leaders create truly new possibilities.

All presentations of the Vision Series are free and open to the public. No tickets required.

ditional requirements would infringe on their constitutional rights while doing nothing to promote public safety. In their view, the more guns we have the safer we become. With over 300 million weapons in circulation and gun deaths continuing to be a national crisis, there continues to be a far too limited number of individuals and advocacy groups willing to engage in meaningful compromise.

I agree that guns are often not the problem, but all too often they are. Many people believe that criminals establish the intent to commit crimes and then seek out a weapon to execute that intent. In reality, especially with young people, they come across a gun first and then develop the intent to do harm. When youths find guns, it does not lead to thoughts of shoplifting or vandalism ... it leads to violence.

When I am able to talk to individuals in the first category mentioned above, we typically can agree that requiring background checks on private sales at commercial gun shows would offer real safety benefits without interfering with any law abiding citizen's ability to obtain firearms. I thank these individuals for their thoughtful contribution to my knowledge of this subject area. Sadly, most of the people who communicate with me are unwilling to give an inch. For many good people, there is an obsession with guns and their rights surrounding them that precludes meaningful dialogue. No one in the legislature wants to take guns away from anyone who obeys the law and does not suffer from certain mental health infirmities. Many of us, however, do want to reduce the dangers of guns without unduly restricting gun rights.

I introduced two bills this year to do just that. They both dealt with gun owner responsibility and accountability. The first would have held gun owners civilly responsible if it could be shown through clear and convincing evidence, the highest civil standard, that the owner did not take reasonable measures to prevent the theft or misappropriation of their gun and the gun was then used in a crime. The second bill required gun thefts to be reported to police. Responsible gun owners should be open to this, but both bills were defeated in sub-committee with little attention or debate.

I will continue to further the discussion around protecting both the Second Amendment and public safety.

Lake Braddock Boys' Soccer Beats Robinson

First-year Robinson coach Garza not pleased with Rams' effort.

BY JON ROETMAN
THE CONNECTION

Robert Garza has brought a new style of soccer to the Robinson boys' program in his first season as head coach.

On March 22, the Rams brought a level of intensity that led to an early lead against Lake Braddock. The energy didn't last, however, and the Bruins walked away victorious from Garza's first taste of the rivalry match-up.

Trailing 1-0 in the first half, Lake Braddock responded with a game-tying goal in the 19th minute and added two in the second half for a 3-1 victory over Robinson at Lake Braddock Secondary School. In a rematch of last year's Northern Region championship game, won by Robinson, Lake Braddock received second-half goals from senior forward Ricardo Munoz and sophomore midfielder Jeff Pineda to pull out the victory.

"Anytime you play against Robinson, there's always going to be a certain amount of emotion in the game," Lake Braddock head coach Joe Soos said. "It's important to play with emotion but not get caught up in the emotion of the moment. I think we were a little guilty of that in the beginning."

Robinson took a 1-0 lead when senior forward Naveed Freshtvadi scored off a corner kick in the 12th minute. But things quickly went south for the Rams, whose lead evaporated nearly seven minutes later, when Lake Braddock senior forward Emmanuel Salido scored in the 19th

Garza, who came to Robinson from Mount Vernon, said the Rams played well during a 1-1 tie against Stone Bridge, showing they had adapted to his style of soccer, but he wasn't pleased with the team's performance against Lake Braddock.

"It was an amazing game," Garza said about the Rams' matchup with Stone Bridge. "I'm bringing a different style of game over here, a possession style with speed, and it was on display on Wednesday. To have [Stone Bridge head coach] Randy May, who's this next legendary coach, flat out say after the game 'we had a horseshoe hanging up for us today,' it was amazing to see the way [the Rams] adjusted to the new style. And then to come out here today and see this [is disappointing]. You could blame it on tired legs, but Lake Braddock played Wednesday as well.

"We showed some poise and that was good to see because it's early and you don't know how your team is going to respond in certain situations."

—Lake Braddock boys' soccer coach Joe Soos

I hate to say it, but I feel like we scored a goal and we felt like we won something there, yet there was another 70 minutes to play. We just stopped playing right there."

The score was tied 1-all at halftime. Lake Braddock's Munoz gave the Bruins the lead with a goal in the 54th minute. In the 67th minute, the Robinson goalkeeper mishandled the ball and Pineda cashed in with a goal, giving Lake Braddock a 3-1 advantage.

"We showed some poise and that was good to see because it's early and you don't know how your team is going to respond in certain situations," Soos said. "Going down a goal, to come back and respond and get one to even it up was certainly nice and showed some character."

The victory improved Lake Braddock's record to 2-0, including a season-opening 4-0 victory against Chantilly on March 20, but Soos wasn't content with the Bruins' effort, saying "it's nice to win in March, but you want to win in May."

"There were so many moments during the game that we looked sloppy and out of control," Soos said about the Bruins performance against Robinson. "We've got a lot to work on."

Lake Braddock finished Patriot District and Northern Region runners-up and reached the state semifinals in 2012. Senior forward Aaron Hollins said the Bruins would like to take home the final Patriot District championship before next season's VHSL re-alignment.

"That would be cool ending it off if we won our district," he said. "Losing [last season's district final to T.C. Williams], it doesn't put [us] down, it just motivates us."

The Bruins will travel to face Yorktown at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, April 2.

Robinson, last season's Northern Region champion, fell to 1-1-2. The Rams will host Woodson at 5:30 p.m. on Tuesday, April 2.

Garza said he is looking for big contributions from senior captains Andrew Osiecki and Evan Christian, and sophomore midfielder William Zarco.
